... between God and man

The world is, indeed, "merely a bridge" which we are to pass over—a bridge bearing various markers which indicate advancement achieved and distance yet uncovered. We Catholic students are fortunate in having had our journey mapped on so fair and safe a bridge as that built on the Christian virtues of Faith, Hope and Charity. These supporting virtues will bear us up and carry us over the chaos to our eternal destination, the Heavenly City.

Since this is the reason for being of our Catholic school system, we Seniors find it a fitting theme for our 1957 Parmentier. We have received the markers:

- . . . FAITH that God will aid us in putting to good use the lessons taught in our classrooms and in sharing in the wisdom of the Faculty.
- . . . HOPE that with these attributes, we will attain that place in life for which we are intended.
- . . . CHARITY that we may appreciate the miracle of human life and acknowledge our duties towards our fellow man as the creation of God.

With these thoughts in mind, we offer the following pages to tell the story of one phase of the journey—our four years in Saint Joseph's High School.

our Supreme Pontiff

Pope Pius XII

The Holy Father has continually encouraged the growth of the Church militant in the United States. Catholic schooling will fashion young men and women who will carry their American social and cultural heritage as well as their religious apostolate to the furthest frontiers of Christianity. The Pontiff urges that Catholic school graduates be vigilant against the enemies of God and His church who make bold to attack the Creator's supreme dominion and sacrosanct human rights.

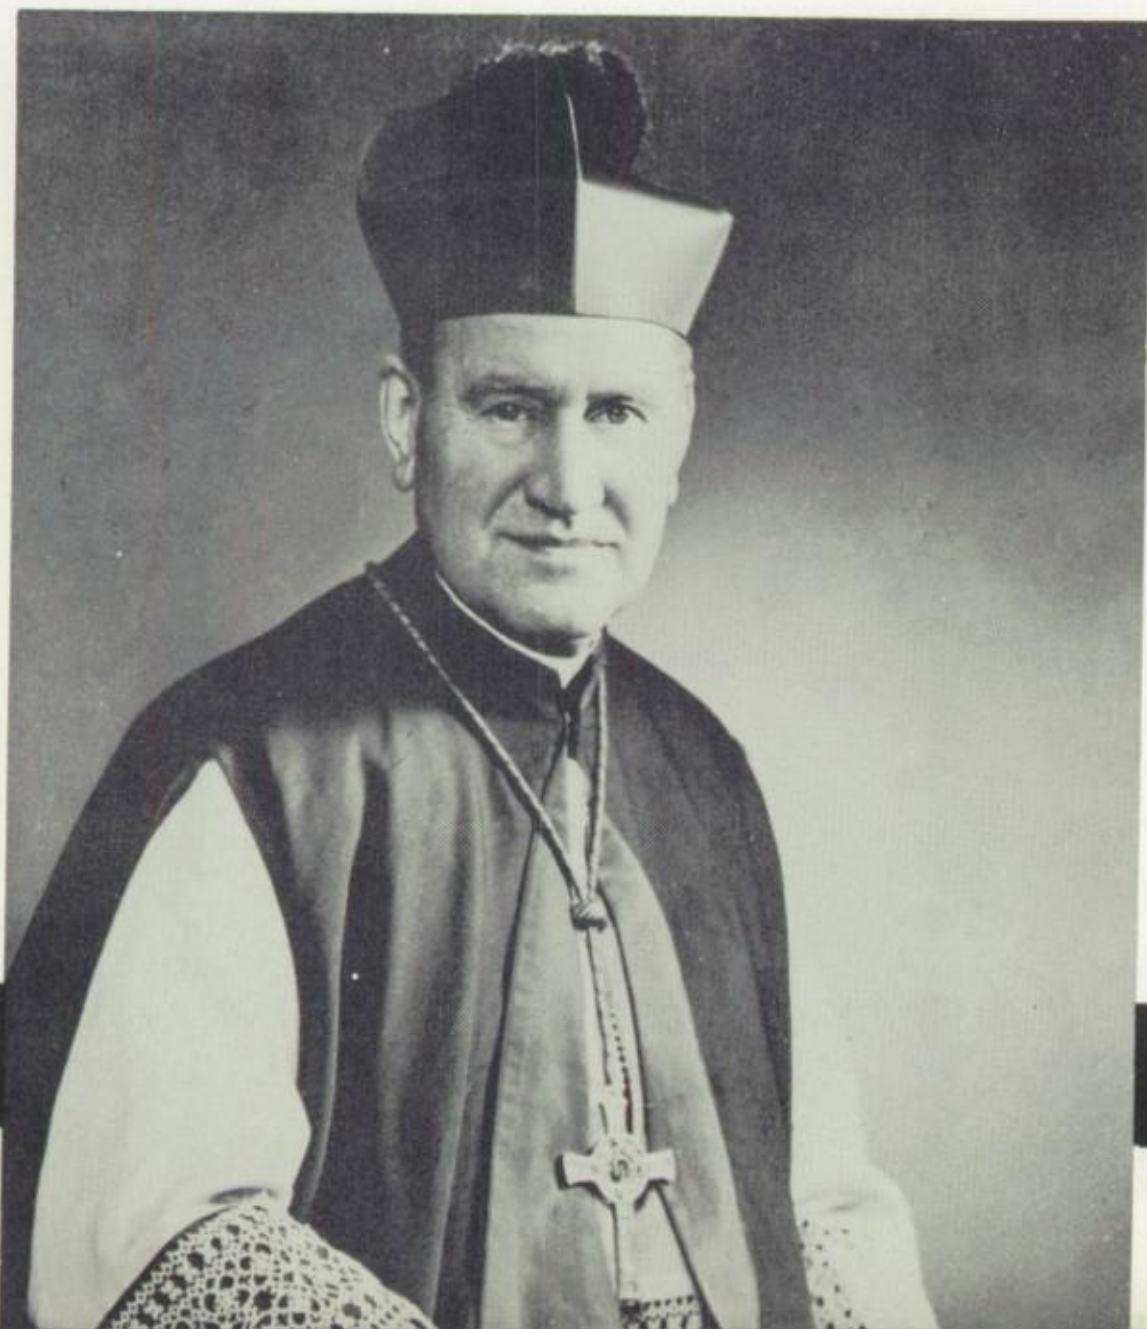

HIS EXCELLENCY
THOMAS E. MOLLOY, S.T.D.
Archbishop—Bishop of Brooklyn

On November 26, 1956, the Catholic Church mourned the passing of Archbishop Thomas E. Molloy, of the diocese of Brooklyn. No better summary can be made in tribute to His Excellency than the words of Mr. Patrick Scanlon which he wrote for the "Tablet" of which he is the editor. Mr. Scanlon said:

"A man of wide and varied capabilities, whose intellectual stature was that of sheer genius, His Excellency might be remembered for the multitude of accomplishments, spiritual and material, for which his administrative ability was responsible. Certainly the growth and expansion of the Diocese of Brooklyn, its churches, its schools, its charitable institutions, give eloquent and permanent testimony to the greatness of his leadership."

The Archdiocese lost a truly great Churchman with the death of Auxiliary Bishop Kearney. A scholar and an educator, Bishop Kearney was instrumental in the marked increase in the number of Catholic schools during recent years. His winning personality combined with his interest in his flock made him loved by the Brooklyn diocese and his passing away was mourned by innumerable friends.

RAYMOND A. KEARNEY

REVEREND MOTHER IMMACULATA MARIA
General Superior of the Sisters of St. Joseph in the Diocese of Brooklyn

Because of the sincere love and the high esteem we have for the Sisters who have been our teachers, the students of St. Joseph's High School consider it our privilege and our pleasure to greet you, Reverend Mother Immaculata Maria, in your first year as General Superior of the Congregation which has come to mean so much to us.

Our new Principal

SISTER MARY REGINA
Principal

The graduates of 1957 are happy to be your first, Sister. It has been a wonderful year and we know that the undergraduates join with us in extending to you a sincere welcome, and in prayerfully wishing you the same companionship and inspiration of our patron, St. Joseph with which he attended and supported our Lady and her Son in their earthly sojourn.

Annexes

The growth of our school, both with regard to enrollment and accommodations, is little less than phenomenal. It is hard now to imagine that the opening of St. Joseph's in 1904 took place in a small frame building and that the registration totaled six students.

It was in 1912 that the cornerstone was laid for the new four-story building next to the convent at 342 Bridge Street. The succeeding years, with their ever increasing enrollment forced the administration to find rented space in the Brooklyn Law Building on Pearl Street.

Forty-two years of growing brought the student body to one thousand and witnessed the removal to the ten story structure which occupies the southwest corner of Bridge and Willoughby Streets.

In 1956 a third building was added when the Willoughby House at Lawrence Street was purchased and completely renovated with the latest modern equipment. This newest building contains eight classrooms, a library for the use of the Freshmen, a Biology laboratory and a cafeteria.

This is the newest of the Freshman buildings. Located on Lawrence Street directly behind the Parmentier building, it has an office for the assistant principal, Sister Mary Gonzaga; a completely equipped Biology laboratory and a cafeteria. It is thoroughly modern and contains every latest facility.

The two buildings pictured on this page constitute the Freshman domain. The building, below, located at 342 Bridge Street, contains seven classrooms and a fully equipped library for the use of the Freshmen.

From Here

Early in the Senior term, the symbolic ring of Seniordom was presented to the girls. The ceremony took place in the school auditorium where the rings were blessed by Father Lawrie.

After the Graduation Mass at Saint Boniface Church, the seniors are the guests of the seventh termers at a Communion Breakfast in the school cafeteria.

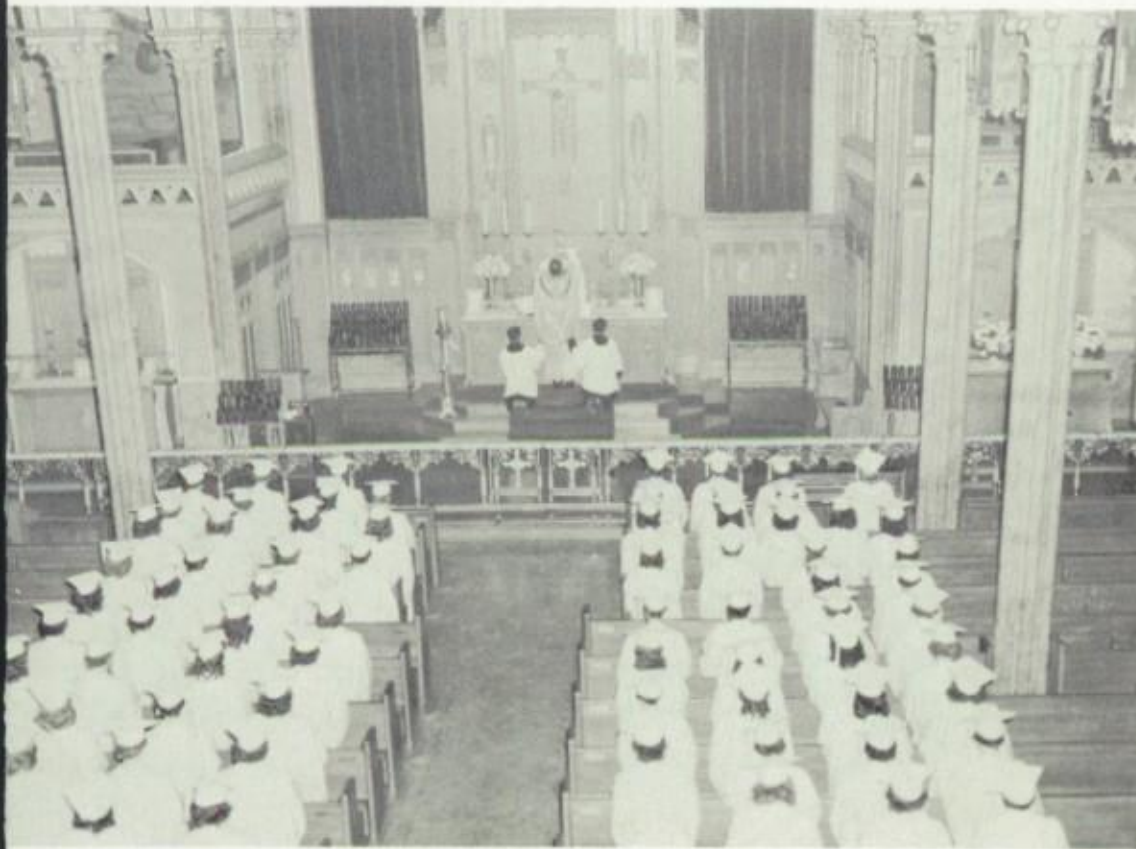

Seniors and their escorts enjoy themselves at the Senior Dance. The refreshments, fine music and general excitement afford pleasure to all the girls and lovely memories to look back upon in later years.

To Graduation

The girls, attired in their best outfits, are celebrating Senior Day with an informal party in the school cafeteria. Their mirth soon turns into a bittersweet reverie when the Alma Mater is sung and the past four years are recollected.

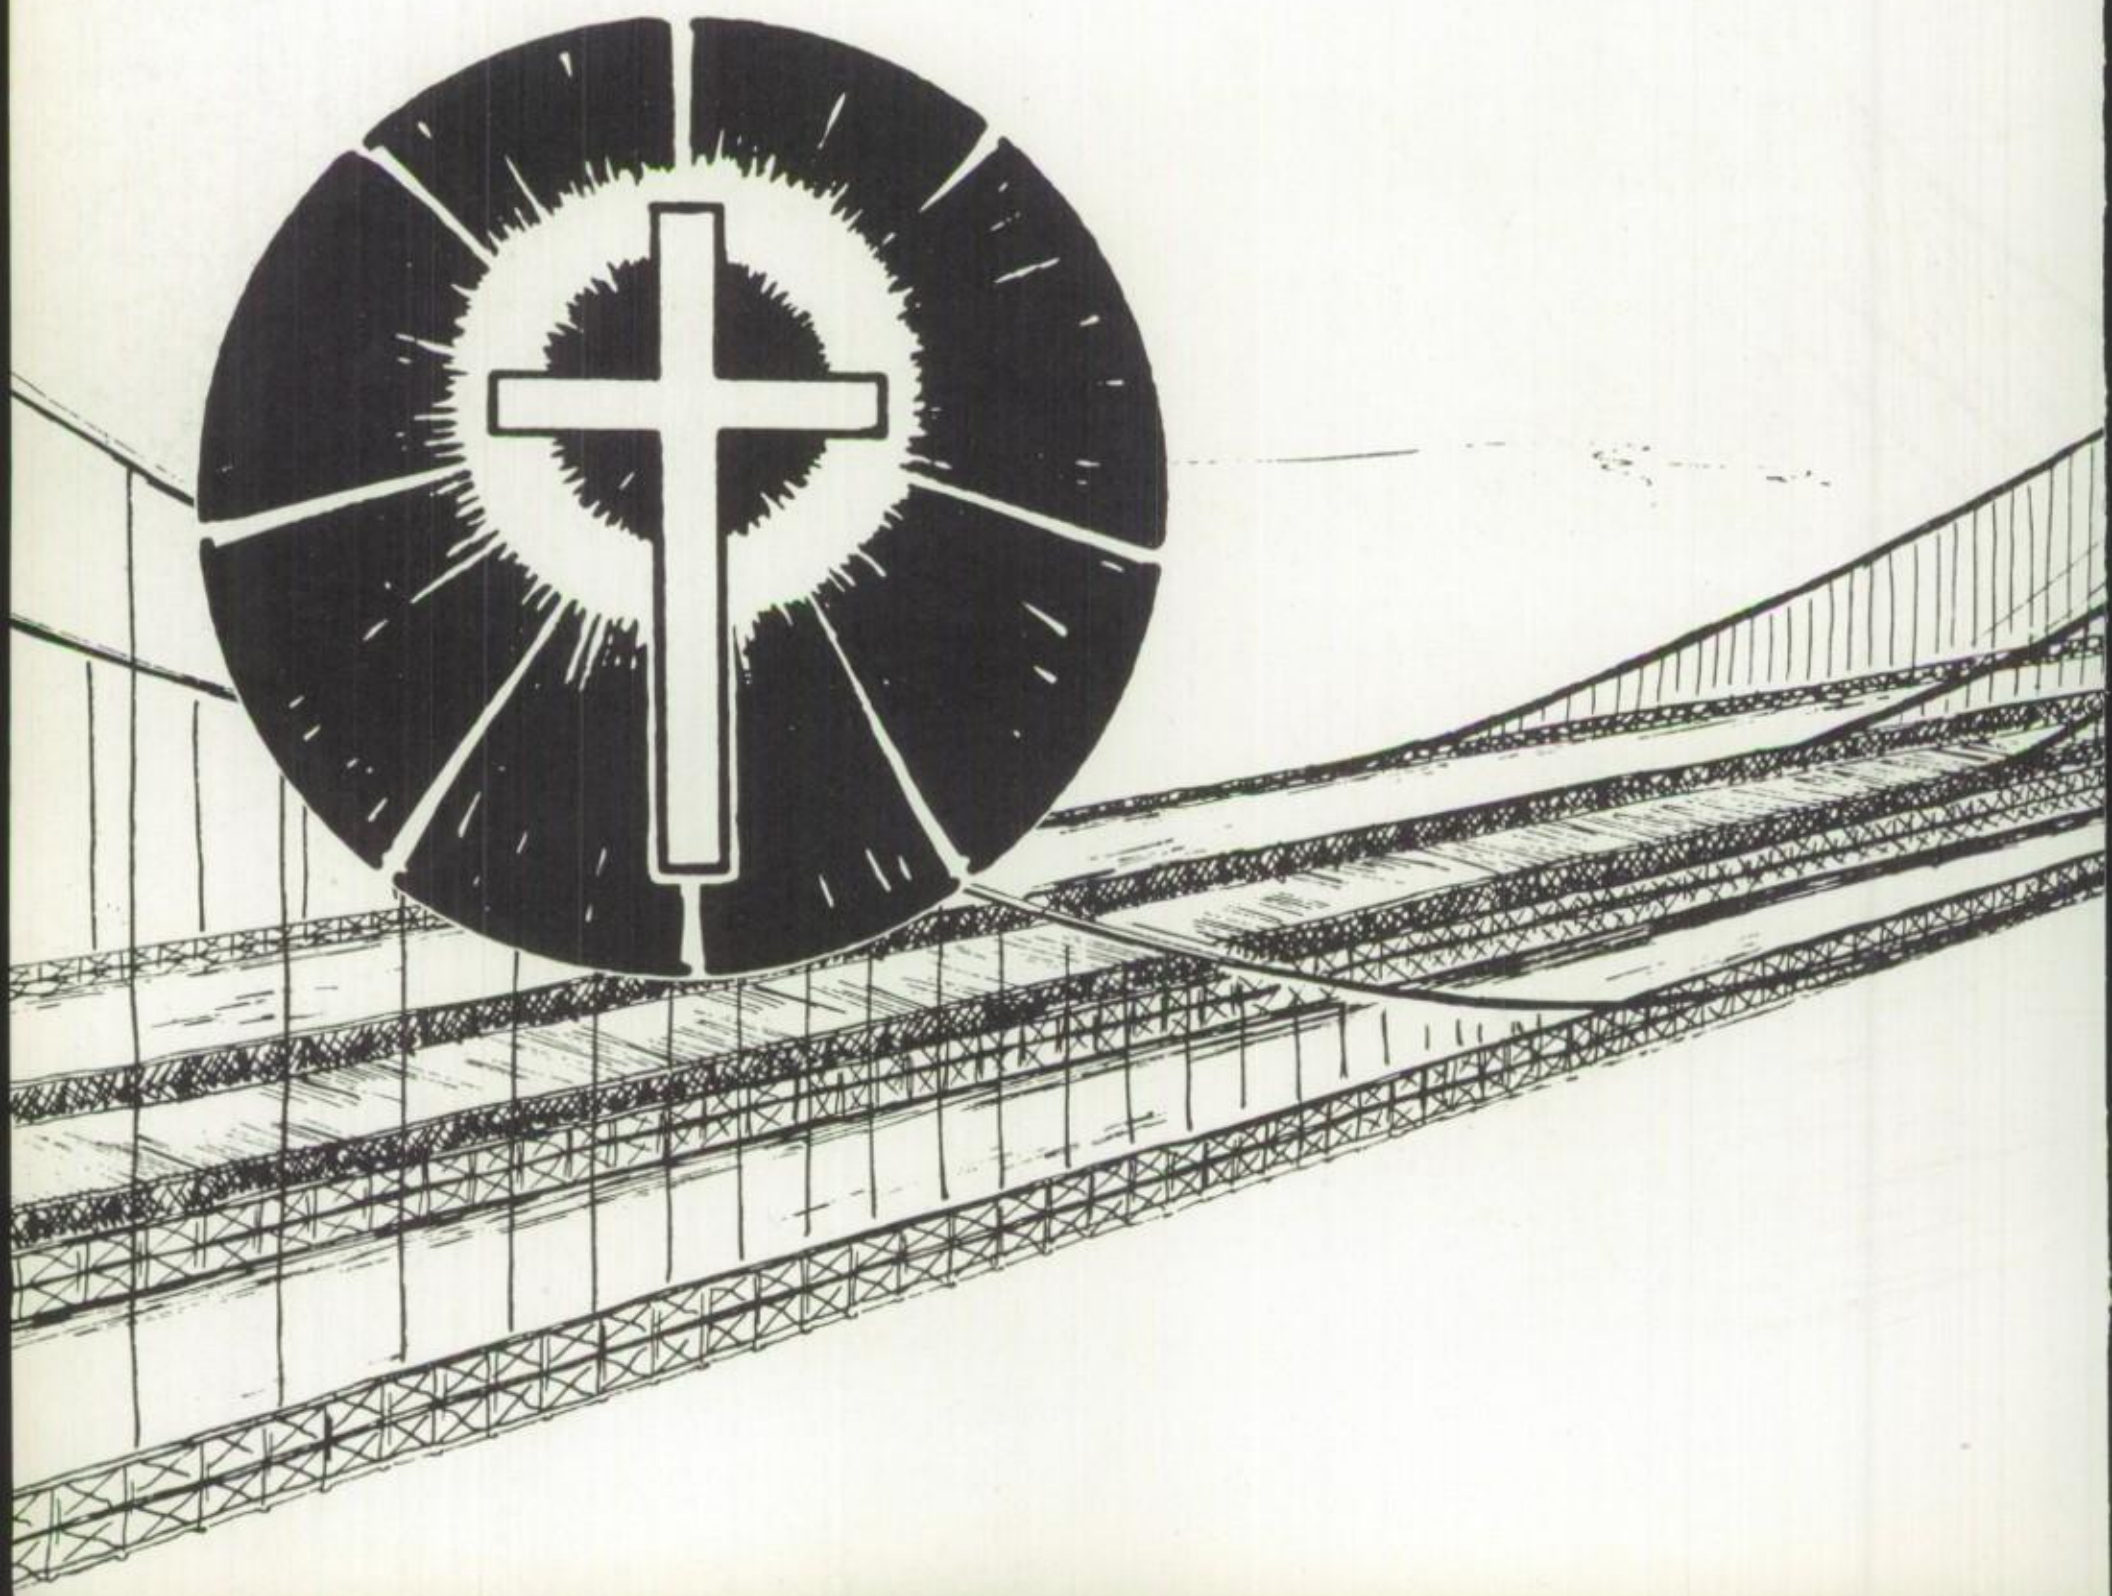

The graduates, in caps and gowns, assist at Mass in Saint Boniface Church in order to obtain the blessing of God upon their future endeavors.

The time has come for the commencement exercises and there is a combination of laughter and tears as the graduates receive their diplomas in the auditorium of Bishop McDonnell High School. They are ready to take their place in the world as young Catholic adults and to leave their happy high school days behind them.

... faith is a bridge

having one lane marked "To Christ's Harvest." By special invitation from the Master Planner a few of us graduates of the class of 1957 will find that our way lies over this lane. We shall follow the beautiful example of the long black line of Sister teachers, nurses and missionaries who have been chosen and who have been brave enough to accept, "the better part".

... faith is a bridge

having a middle lane marked "to the marketplace". Some of us will daily join the throng which courses towards the great metropolis of New York to fill our days with performing the works of mercy. As secretaries we shall complement busy executives, as stenographers we will despatch the correspondence so vital to the world of business, or as professional women we shall lend our intellects and talents to humanitarianism. But whatever our career, we shall put into practice the Faith that will help us to lead the sin-burdened, worry-ridden, confused world back to God.

... faith is a bridge

having a lane heavy with traffic marked "towards Cana". Most of us seniors will one day travel this lane to become Catholic wives and mothers. We shall carry with us our faith—a definitely patterned exercise of our faith exemplified in our Blessed Mother, the valiant woman of the Book of Proverbs, and in the little plan we studied so thoroughly with our priest-teacher, Casti Conubii.

*"Youth gets together his materials to *build a bridge to the

on the earth...."*

—Henry David Thoreau

... hope is a bridge

at the end of which we can see a city shining resplendently in the sun of the bright morning of our young lives—a city where we shall work together in business offices under the Christian code of mutual dependence and trust; a city where the earning of our daily bread shall taste sweet in our mouths because we have received our principles of business conduct under Christ's standards. Strengthened often by the Bread of angels, we travel lightly, with hope in our hearts for we "never walk alone."

... hope is a bridge

on which we lift our eyes beyond the sordidness of man's day to the beauty of God's day of eternity. Hope is our prerogative—hope that man will return to the realization of his own dignity. We have this hope because we have observed man's efforts in our study of the history of the world; in the literature of our own country and of other nations; in the progress of art and science through the ages. From the book we read, the music we listen to, the clay we mold, we raise our eyes to a promising tomorrow.

where Religion is the road map. We, therefore, travel on a sure road toward the hills green in the distance, because Christ, our Hope, has showed us the way. No matter the hazards, the obstacles or the tempting flower-bordered side roads: we know our destiny. It has been well taught—we travel Christwards. We know our way. It has been carefully memorized; the ten commandments, the precepts of Holy Mother Church, the Beatitudes. Can we not hope?

To Know Him

These two Juniors, Nancy De Caro and Catherine Dillon, display a dramatic interpretation of the story of "Esther" from the Holy Bible for their religion class. The girls of St. Joseph's are always looking for new ideas to make their religion periods more interesting and enjoyable.

Father Johnston's instruction on the sixth term encyclical appears to be very interesting. Each term the students of St. Joseph's are given a clearer understanding of the encyclicals Divini Redemptoris (On Atheistic Communism), Quadragesimo Anno (On Reconstruction of the Social Order), Casti Conubii (On the Christian Marriage) and Divini Illius Magistri (On Education).

Is To Serve Him

The students of St. Joseph's enjoy the privilege of being able to spend a few moments of their free time talking with God in the Chapel, Our Lady of Fatima Oratory. Each Friday a different class attends Mass and receives Holy Communion. The Blessed Sacrament is exposed during the entire day on First Friday and the students form an Honor Guard, which is a continuous showing of their love for Christ.

Sophomore class president, Dolores Fiore, leads her class in the recitation of the Rosary during the annual retreat which took place during Holy week.

During retreat week this junior class spent a half hour in reading spiritual books. These girls know only too well the benefit and spiritual strength they can derive from reading such books.

On our annual retreat, Mary Keegan, Mary Bradshaw, Joan Johnson and Mary Anne Ruck recite the Rosary in honor of our Blessed Mother.

The Freshman Faculty help us clear the terrain.

When we were Freshmen, our teachers were very important to us; we clung to them; we must have harassed them with a hundred daily questions. As we look back we marvel at the wisdom of the administrators who selected such patient, understanding Sisters to guide us in our first days in wonderland. All Freshmen are required to take the following subjects:

SOCIAL STUDIES
BIOLOGY

INTRODUCTION TO BUSINESS
BUSINESS ARITHMETIC
MUSIC

Sister Mary Theotime: Introduction to Business, Head of Introduction to Business Department.
Sister Margaret Willetta: Social Studies, Legion of Mary.
Sister Jeanne Gertrude: Business Arithmetic, Business Law, Student Service League, Alumnae Moderator, Booster Club.
Sister Saint Maurice: Library Science, Librarian.

Sister John Vianney: Music, Glee Club Moderator.
Sister Mary Genevieve: Science, Head of Science Department, Science Club Moderator.
Sister Jeanne Arthur: English, Religion, Legion of Mary.
Miss Elizabeth Sloane: English, Social Studies.

Third Row, Left to Right:

Miss Mary Ann Mone: English, Social Studies, Introduction to Business.
Miss Anne Mulgrew: Social Studies, English.
Miss Marion Saloky: Business Arithmetic, English.

With the aid of a map showing the continent of Africa and the Mediterranean world, Carol Diresto is pointing to one of the trouble spots—the Suez Area, while Ritamae Dillon studies the facts about the Suez situation in a daily newspaper. Understanding that Geography is a vitally important subject, Rosalie DiTirro and Carolyn Falkenhainer, with their classmates, get acquainted with the part it plays in current events.

Freshman Study

The Silent World...

To a confused freshman, Biology presents a fascinating challenge which introduces such scientific marvels as the mechanisms of the heart, cell structure and animal life. An addition this year to the Biology class is the lab in the Lawrence Street Building, furnished with modernized equipment for the use of the students.

Another of the interests of the students is Social Studies, which introduces the economic systems of finance, industry, labor and capital in the light of the moral law. By applying Christian principles to our political and educational institutions, we can counteract the ever impending threats to our democratic way of life.

And Human Society

The civic duties of a citizen are pointed out by Rose D'Avanzo as Carol Espisito holds the flag of our great country. To carry out our duties as citizens, we must first know them and understand them, and this is made possible by the study of Civics in the second half of the Freshman year.

Rosalie Cammarata uses a chart giving Dolores Murphy a quiz on the structure of cells. Marie Chiodo draws a cell, while Angela Basile, right, makes a diagram of the paramecium.

We Start Off

Introduction to Business and Business Arithmetic, offered to the Freshman classes, are the means by which as inexperienced business students we became familiarized with the various business forms and procedures in the commercial world today.

Introduction to Business acquaints the student with legal business forms, mediums of exchange, and money as a medium of exchange, and, above all, instructs the pupil to employ these mediums wisely and economically.

Business Arithmetic teaches the student to manipulate business transactions in the home as well as in the office, by studying insurance and mortgage, among other items, and by practicing mathematical computations included under these items.

Monica Keane watches as Amelia Gambardella completes an Interest problem in Business Arithmetic. This course prepares the inexperienced student to meet everyday business transactions efficiently.

Business-wise

Catherine Combey, Ritamae Dillon and Barbara Collica will make deposits as Lillian Colucci, Grace Cullen, Eugenia Errico and Annette Fabiano act out their banking duties. Introduction to Business trains students for efficient service as businesswomen.

The Fine Arts Reign

As a deviation from the regular music period, Sister John Vianney introduces the sophomores to the art of "dosie doing" which is enjoyed by all.

Library Science helps the student to locate information and compile facts. The instructor also helps us to distinguish between literature of quality and unworthy literature. The world of books might have escaped us if we did not approach its gate with the "Open Sesame!" of this course. Music renders a lilting phase to the curriculum by offering the student an appreciation of the orchestral and lyrical masterpieces. An added attraction has been the inclusion of a folk-dance program in which the pupils participate.

With an attentive music class as her audience, Marie Foley, points to "Do", as Phyllis Farone gives her silent approval and confidence to the demonstration. This particular scene is just one example of the many ways and means the Freshmen have to enjoy the appreciation of music, one that will last throughout their adult years.

The Sophomore Faculty erect the supports.

A step forward! As Sophomores we took our gifts of grace and of nature, our talents of intellect and will, into more serious consideration. Though Sophomores are supposed to be sophisticated, we remember that we did not feel as relaxed and cock-sure as people generally accused us of being. Our teachers realized this inner awkwardness and uneasiness of ours and they were at once patient, stern, good-humored, merciless while they watched us struggling to find ourselves. There was no monotony with a full program which included:

TYPING
with a choice of:
ART OR

SHORTHAND
WORLD HISTORY

Mary Allard, Mary Murphy, Barbara Paro, Carol De'Ella and Mary Lou Connelly illustrate commercial lettering. The art curriculum at St. Joseph's consists of a three year program: Sophomores learn the fundamentals of elementary art, design and lettering which activate a significant role in commercial illustration. The Juniors major in the mediums of watercolors and fashion study, while the Seniors center on the essentials of advertising and interior decorating.

*God Gives Skill But Not Without
Men's Hands . . .
Sophomores*

These sophomores are being introduced to the diverse mechanisms that comprise today's modern typewriter. By constant drilling and practical application of the touch system, St. Joseph's students are afforded every opportunity to acquire a high rate of typing speed while keeping in accordance with the standard of accuracy.

Keeping in step with modern standards, St. Joseph's offers these girls the opportunity to become acquainted with the electric typewriter. With the realization that time-saving is an essential factor in any office efficiency program, the students are competently trained to meet present day demands of business.

Mary McArdle explains to Isabelle DeSantis the digit problems of elementary algebra while the class watches attentively. By choosing algebra as their elective, these second year students may later enhance these primary skills through Geometry and Intermediate Algebra in their Senior year.

With Quantities And Qualities

Sophomore Veronica Mikulka reads directions to Valerie Testa and Mary Ann Arcieri as they demonstrate the art of setting a lunch table. Training to prepare us for our future domestic responsibilities is part of the curricula of St. Joseph's students.

These Sophomore Leo Honor girls who realize how important it is to keep up with current events are Veronica Carolan, Eugenie Gilbert, Dorothy Marrone, Barbara Rohner, Anita Milaccio, Carol McCarthy, Carol La Plante and Margaret Burnes.

Leo Honor Society . . . Sophomores

Two of our Senior Leo Honor students follow the tradition of explaining the ideals of the society to the new members, who are: Rose Marie Cuccarullo, Mary Ann Wagner, Theresa Sidwaski, Barbara Mutkoski, Maria Alvarez, Maria Scarperia and Barbara Costa.

The Junior Faculty construct the span.

The apex of school life was our Junior year. As the months swiftly passed . . . Our God given gifts and talents began to take definite shape and our life's plan was becoming more obvious . . . Our minds, our wills, our hearts are given to God . . . at St. Joseph's.

With three Regent Examinations facing us, the spotlight focused on serious study. We were liberally given our teachers' time, knowledge and vision.

Our program consisted of:

RELIGION	AMERICAN HISTORY ( second half )
ENGLISH	TRANSCRIPTION
WORLD HISTORY ( first half )
and a choice of:
BUSINESS LAW OR	GEOMETRY

Top Row, Left to Right:

Sister Cecilia Agnes: Shorthand, Transcription.

Sister Winifred Marie: Business Law, Transcription, Head of Law Department.

Sister Jean Alice: Business Law, Typing, Mission Club.

Sister Catherine Amelia: Typing, Transcription, Coupon Drive.

Sister Agnes Therese: Mathematics, Head of Mathematics Department, Legion of Mary, Guidance directress.

Sister Rita Claire: English, Yearbook Moderator.

Sister Saint Rosalie: Mathematics.

Sister Jeanne Kevin: History.

Sister Agnes Maurice: Transcription.

Miss Adrienne Ottinger: History.

Juniors Learn To Think Logically And Transcribe Precisely

Transcription determines the future secretary's principle asset, the ability to incorporate accurately both Stenography and Typing. As Juniors, we were carefully instructed to sustain detailed perfection even in the minutest transcribing process since the competitive business world demands the highest degree of proficiency in all commercial transactions. Transcription as practiced by the student is actually a subject comprising many subjects. To succeed, we were taught that a more than adequate knowledge of fundamental English is necessary to supplement the basis for Stenography and Typing.

Saint Joseph's, although primarily a school of commercial training, encourages its student body to take full advantage of its academic curriculum preparing for college application. Geometry enables the pupil to further activate the thinking and solving processes so indispensable to practical logic. The student probably will not select Geometry as the center of her career or vocation, but the fundamental logic of the subject will be with her always.

This class of Juniors is being carefully watched over by Sister to see that they attain a high degree of perfection. Through hard work, they will become skilled in this art of Transcribing at the end of the Junior year.

Aided by Sister and the smiling confidence of Carol Ann Cracolici and her class, Teresa Mazzeo has found the solution to a Geometric theorem. This is just one example of the practice of reflective thinking that enables pupils to assume a role in a world of responsibility.

Human Hopes and Human Creeds

"Experience is the best teacher." Our Business Law instructors adhere to this by offering opportunities for students to witness actual cases. In the Central Court Building, several students from Sister Winifred Marie's Business Law class from 1003 pose for a mock trial. Judge Hyman Barshay presides as Erica Grossheim, Nora Nolan, Maria Barresi, Joan Rutkowski, Marie Tasso, Arleen Mazzorana, Antoinette Beshara, Josephine Libassi and Antoinette Trapani look on.

The purpose of Business Law is to acquaint the student preparing for a position in the world with the basic elements and principles of commercial statute. Comprehension of Business Law develops a distinct perception of the essence of business itself. Through this course, St. Joseph's students are introduced to essential problems of legislation and the importance of charity and justice in enforcing the law.

History envelops the written record of man's discoveries, failures, and contributions to future civilizations. Through the History curriculum offered at St. Joseph's, we are enabled to visualize the accomplishments to past generations and the prolific expectations of tomorrow. A thorough knowledge of this vast subject equips citizens with a keen perception in distinguishing between the justice or tyranny of current world-wide social, political, and moral tendencies.

From experience and factual knowledge acquired through the study of contracts, partnerships, corporations and warranties, the pupils are enabled to appreciate the value of security. Kathleen Foley is teacher in 3A2-804, a Business Law class. Anna Piscopo raises her hand to answer a question concerning law definitions as Sister Jeanne Gertrude, instructor, looks on.

American History acquaints a pupil with an astute understanding of the American structure of democracy and its unquenchable thirst to overcome the ever-increasing obstacles to world peace. In a junior class, 3B1-1003, the subject of Foreign Policy is discussed in an informal manner. Josephine Libassi indicates the north-central section on the map of the United States as Mary Ellen Loures explains the important foreign negotiations listed on the board.

Leo Honor Society . . . Juniors

The Leo Honor Society of the Diocese of Brooklyn consists of those students who have proven by scholastic achievement and meritorious conduct their ability to maintain the standards of an honor pupil. These senior members have striven diligently to remain part of this society and have participated in their school's activities justifying the faith placed in them. All of these pupils have retained ninety per cent or over in all major subjects and cooperated with the ideals of Catholicity and truth to prove themselves worthy of wearing the Leo Honor pin.

Having been inducted into the Diocesan Leo Honor Society these girls proudly wear the badge of honor. Cooperation in school activities and zealous participation in parish programs are requisites for membership. The primary object of every Leo Honor student is to demonstrate to the non-Catholic public the high scholastic and moral training she has received in her own particular school and to be nothing but an edifice to those with whom she comes in contact. These students realize the worth of scholastic incentive and the professional world's necessity for educated Catholic women.

The Senior Faculty complete the superstructure.

*There followeth after me today
A youth whose feet must pass this way.
The chasm that was as nought to me
To that fair-haired youth may a pitfall be;
He, too, must cross in the twilight dim—
Good friend, I am building this bridge for him.
—Will Allen Drumgoole*

Our days at St. Joseph's are ending . . . days replete with lessons of true Christian living . . . lessons to prepare us to live the Christ-life while we live and work among men. As seniors we became more aware of our teachers as persons who really want to help us with our problems both in and out of class, real friends whom we will remember gratefully in the years to come.

Our Senior program includes the required subjects:

ENGLISH

AMERICAN HISTORY

and for electives we could fill out our program with a choice from:

BOOKKEEPING

SPANISH THREE YEARS

CHEMISTRY

INTERMEDIATE ALGEBRA

Sister Rhoda Maria: Spanish.

Sister Catherine Maria: Shorthand, Transcription, Placement and Guidance.

Sister Stanislaus Marie: Shorthand, Secretarial Practice.

Sister Miriam Cecilia: English, Journalism Club Moderator.

Sister Regina Immaculate: History, Head of Religion Department, Grade Advisor, Legion of Mary, Tablet.

Sister Margaret Vincent: English, Head of Third and Fourth Year English Department, Uniforms, Grade Advisor.

Sister Miriam Augusta: Shorthand, Typing, Grade Advisor.

Sister Irene de Lourdes: Secretarial Practice, Transcription, Head of Secretarial Department, Grade Advisor, School Rings.

Sister Saint Paul: History, Head of History Department.

Sister Elizabeth Irene: Shorthand, Bookkeeping.

Seniors Learn Formulas

In the process of mastering the steps in practical bookkeeping procedure, the students not only use the official text books but also employ actual financial sheets as Barbara Bradshaw is doing here. When the girls complete this course they are grounded in the fundamentals of bookkeeping and qualify to undertake bookkeeping in any office.

For The Future

The chemistry pupils accomplish most of their experiments in our well-equipped laboratory as D. Messina, B. Ross, A. Serio, D. Miles, C. Quail and J. Magnusin are doing here. They are doing the experiment concerned with the theory of Ionization which is the solution of sodium chloride. It produces electrolytes; it is done with a light bulb and salt which are producers of electricity.

Here Sister Mary Genevieve instructs Elaine DeCanio and Geraldine Bagan in the structure of atoms. An atom is the smallest particle of an element taking part in the chemical change which has all the properties of the element. The atom structure with which the girls are concerned is Lithium.

We Study Spanish . . .

The students in this 4A English class follow in their text book the tragedy of "Macbeth", which is being played on a record that Nancy Harrington has placed on the phonograph. Mary Barron holds the album. Teachers find this one of the most effective ways of reading literature. A four year study in English literature and grammar is a cardinal essential of all high school curriculums. This course is terminated by a four unit Regent's credit.

Besides Our Own Language

In the Spanish class, which has just begun, Rosalie Padovano points to Montevideo, the capital of Uruguay, as she answers the Spanish question on the blackboard. Students in Spanish classes learn facts about not only Spain but also about Latin America.

We Learn Numbers And Accuracy

Business Machines is another important part of this course. In this picture the seniors are mastering the Comptometer. By the look on their faces they don't seem to be minding it at all.

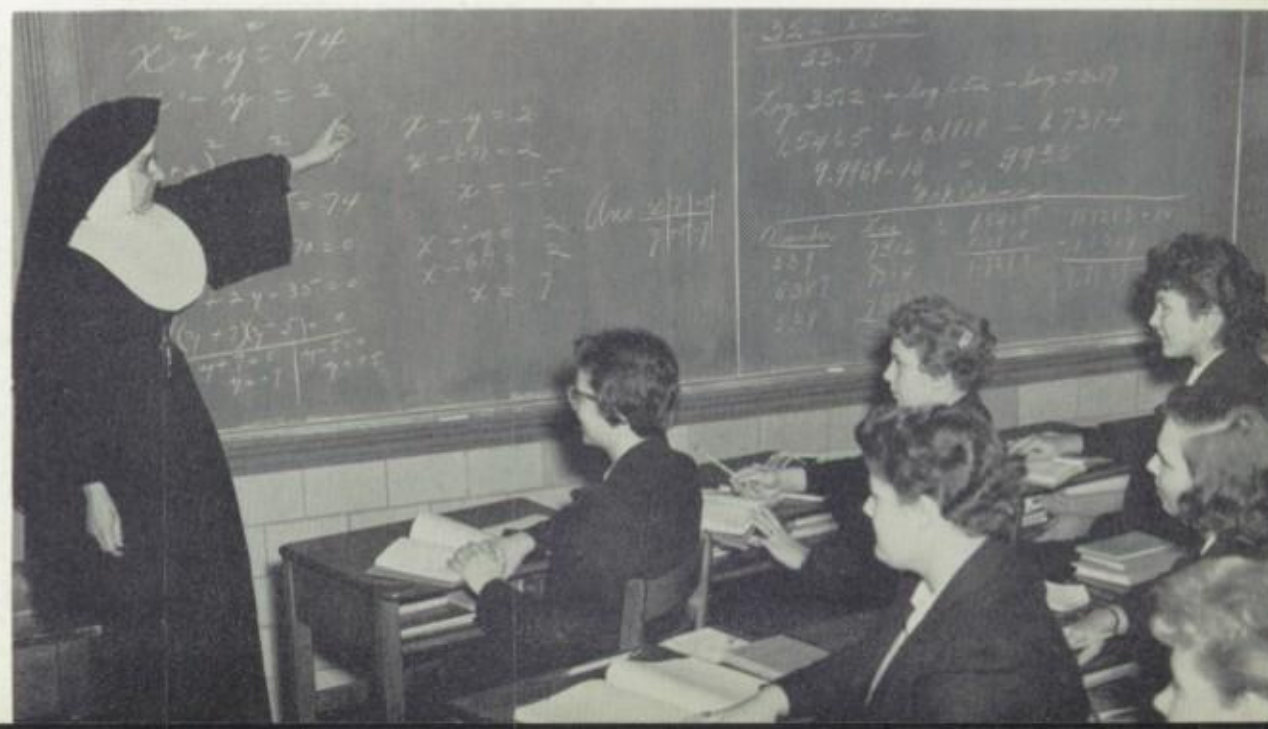

While the Junior Transcription class is trying to maintain 80 wpm, the Senior Secretarial Practice class is accomplishing 120 wpm. The files in the Guidance Room contain scores of letters from business executives expressing keen approval of our past graduates.

During our four years at St. Joseph's the explicit aim of the majority of us was to emerge as capable and efficient secretaries. The fulfillment of this ambition is simplified through the effective Secretarial Practice Course offered the entire senior group. This subject familiarizes the pupil with a knowledge in the utility of the mimeograph, ditto, comptometer, calculators and the dictaphone machine, all standard equipment of modern business offices. The mastering of transcription and proper methods in filing correspondence receive emphasis as vital segments of this course.

The Senior Intermediate Algebra elective serves as an effectual conclusion to the preceding two years math program consisting of geometry, third year, and elementary algebra, second year. We know that the science of numbers does not necessarily develop pupils into expert mathematicians but the challenging aspects of solving intricate quantitative problems can equip us with inflexible determination in solving the difficulties of everyday living.

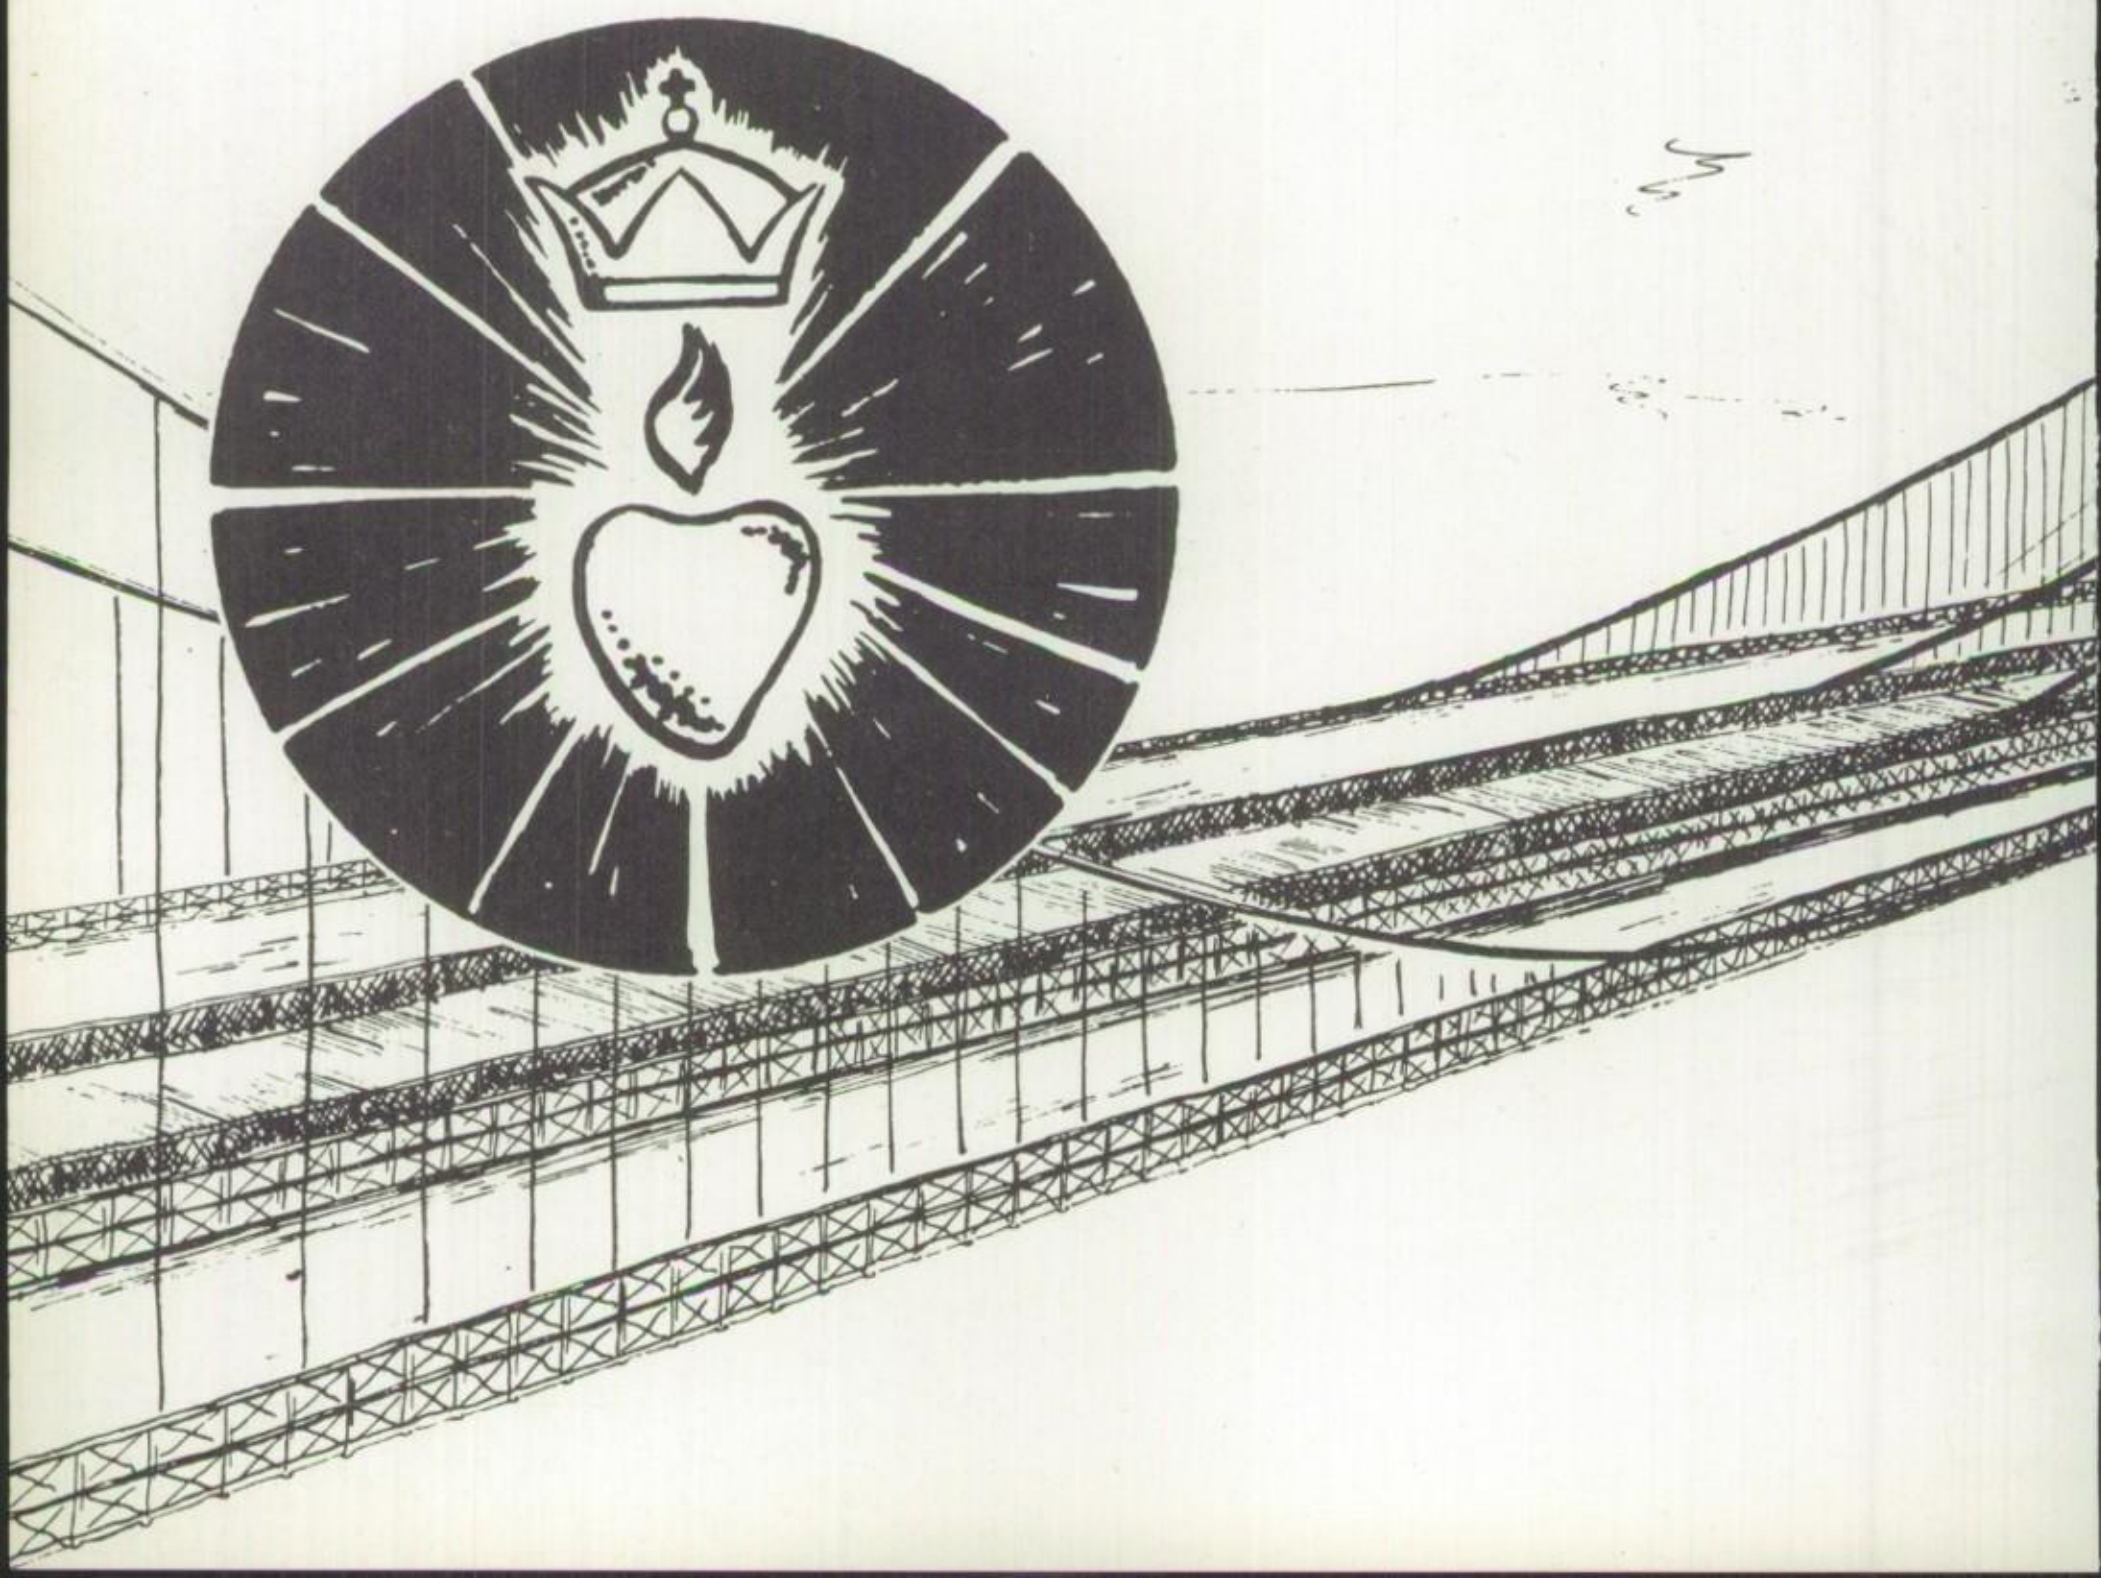

Sister Agnes Therese is explaining a logarithm to the Senior Intermediate Algebra class. The six-months course, offering a regent's credit, is considered significant to students who anticipate college studies.

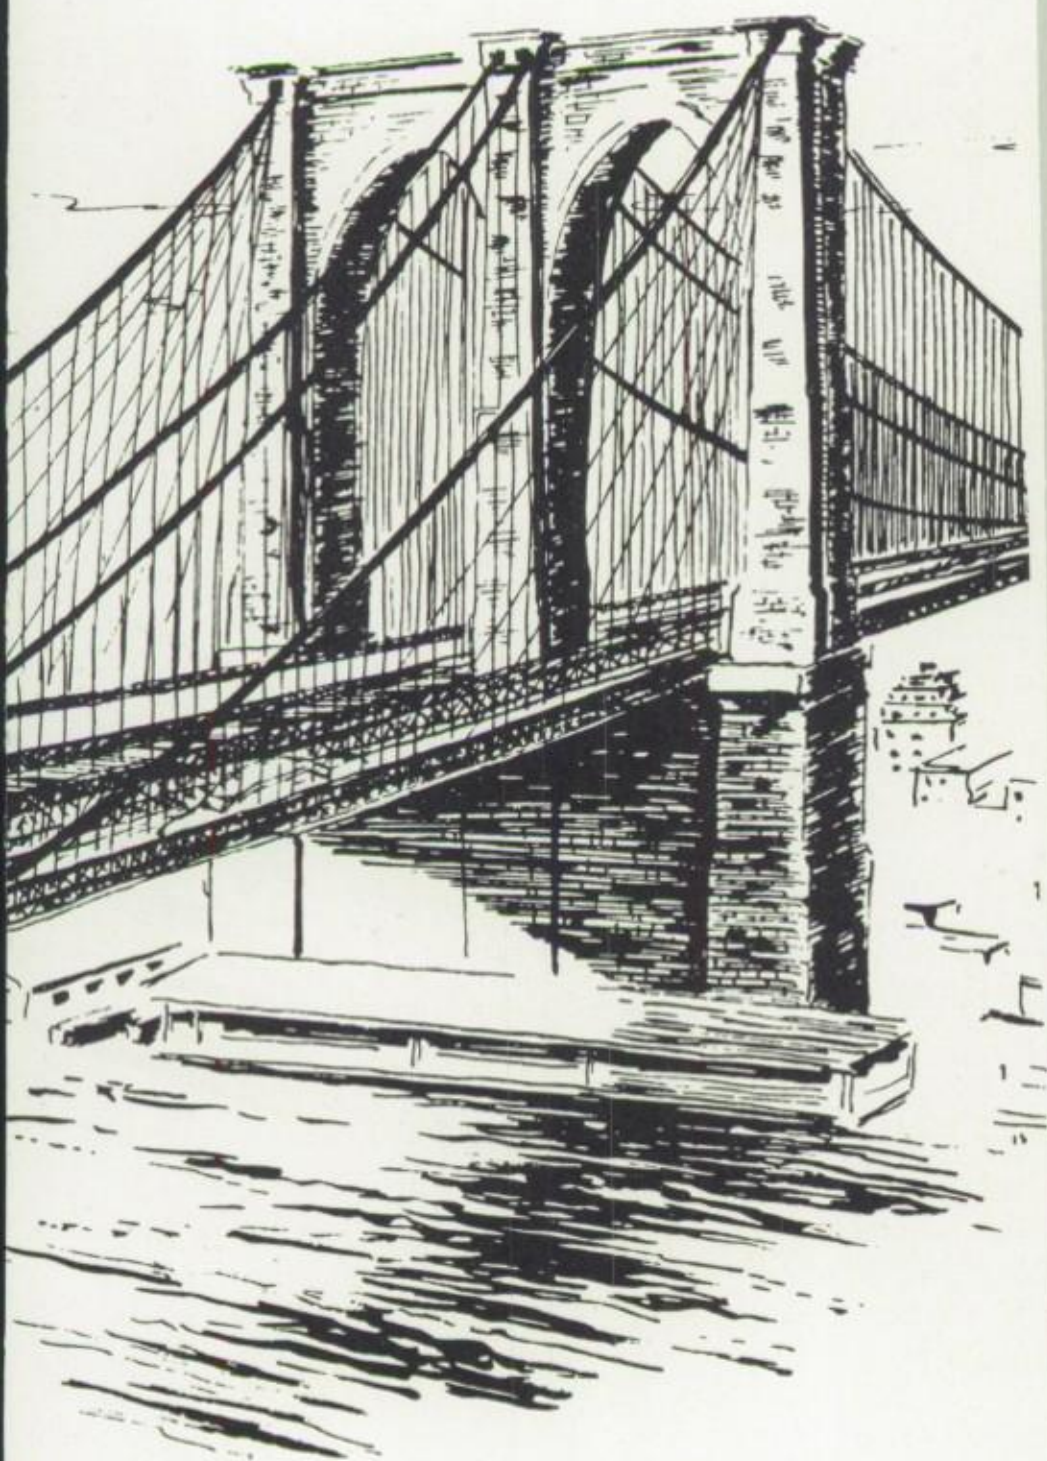

*"There is a land of the living and a land which will carry us to the realization that God has created society and all its aspects to help man to attain his eternal salvation. Our extra-curricular activities have developed in us a desire for perfection which helps us to attain the ultimate goal—Christlikeness. We have also come to know more conclusively that unless God is the motivating force, our efforts are fruitless.

... charity is a bridge

which leads us to love of our neighbor. Our extra-curricular activities taught us to steer away from extremes, to practice self-restraint, and to consider the "other fellow". We learned how to evaluate failure, to moderate our joy, to react to success. In a word, we have come to know that to live well with others, we must live well with ourselves.

... charity is a bridge

which arches the flood of self esteem and shows us true love of self—in God. Our dignity as persons, our high calling as members of Christ's Body, our place in the Divine Plan is now more easily understood. Working in our clubs we have seen the evil of false pride and the reward of rendering back to God the fruit of His gifts to us. We have learned that we must invest our talents and return them to God with interest.

On their Washington trip, the seniors stop at the Governor's Palace in Colonial Williamsburg, Virginia.

The Annual Boat Ride to Rye Beach is enjoyed by all, as the smiles above clearly prove.

The day after the annual G.O. election found the Spring term officers dressed up with some place to go. And they will if they carry out their campaign promises. Left to right are: Elizabeth Doyle, Secretary; Clare McMahon, Vice-President; and Ellen Krumm, President.

General Organization

The G. O. staff serves as a student government representation, therefore, they must qualify as exemplars of superior conduct, scholastic ability, and general popularity. It is considered vitally significant that G. O. officers realize the necessity of spreading a vigorous school spirit throughout the student body, to arouse responsiveness toward activity participation and social functions, thereby improving school unison. The G. O. assumes the responsibilities of organizing the social highlights of the school year.

One of the social events of the season is the Annual Barn Dance. The dancers are now enjoying a slower rhythm building up reserve energy for the faster-moving dance steps.

A matter of importance is discussed by the Fall term officers, Josephine Copobianco, President; Vera Fegan, Vice-President; and Tonia Colalillo, Secretary, who awaits the decision. Each term, the junior and senior classes select their candidates, who must attain an eighty or above average. After elections, the new officers receive a formal introduction to the student body at the lunch periods.

No detentions are given out today because no senior would think of being late for the famed Washington trip. As they anticipate one of the climactic points of their school life, they stand all decked out and waiting in the convent yard. Soon the Sisters will give the signal and the delightful weekend will commence.

Student Service League

The Student Service League Officers, Mary Lou Weymss, Virginia Campbell, Dolores Staten and Rosemarie Welscher discuss their newly authorized right to issue demerits to students who disobey the rules.

Senior member of the Student Service League Elaine Bilbao issues demerits to two sophomores who were anticipating their lunch time conversation on the stairs.

On alternate Wednesdays at three o'clock, the Student Service League assembles in Room 305 for the purpose of discussing with the president, Catherine Cunningham, the problems concerning the supervision and conduct of the students in the daily school procedures. Maintaining the high standard of order that is customary at St. Joseph's is no easy task, considering the large number of students occupying the ten floors of the main building. However, through diligent efforts the S. S. L. has established an outstanding reputation as custodian of this order. The authority of the S. S. L. is effectually fostered in the cafeteria, on the stairs, and in the halls during the recreational periods of the day. As soon as a girl wearing the blue and gold S. S. L. button appears on the scene, differences are unravelled then and there, or the problem is referred to the moderator of the S. S. L., Sister Jeanne Gertrude.

The president of the Student Service League, Catherine Cunningham, and the Secretary, Dolores Staten, discuss the problems of supervision with the eager and alert members of the S.S.L.

The sunny, cheerful room on the fifth floor of St. Joseph's is our school "Guidance Office." It is here students seek counsel in discerning suitable future positions or college placement based on their aptitude and abilities. The pupils fulfill their responsibility to this task by obtaining appropriate grades to qualify them for high standard employment and college eligibility.

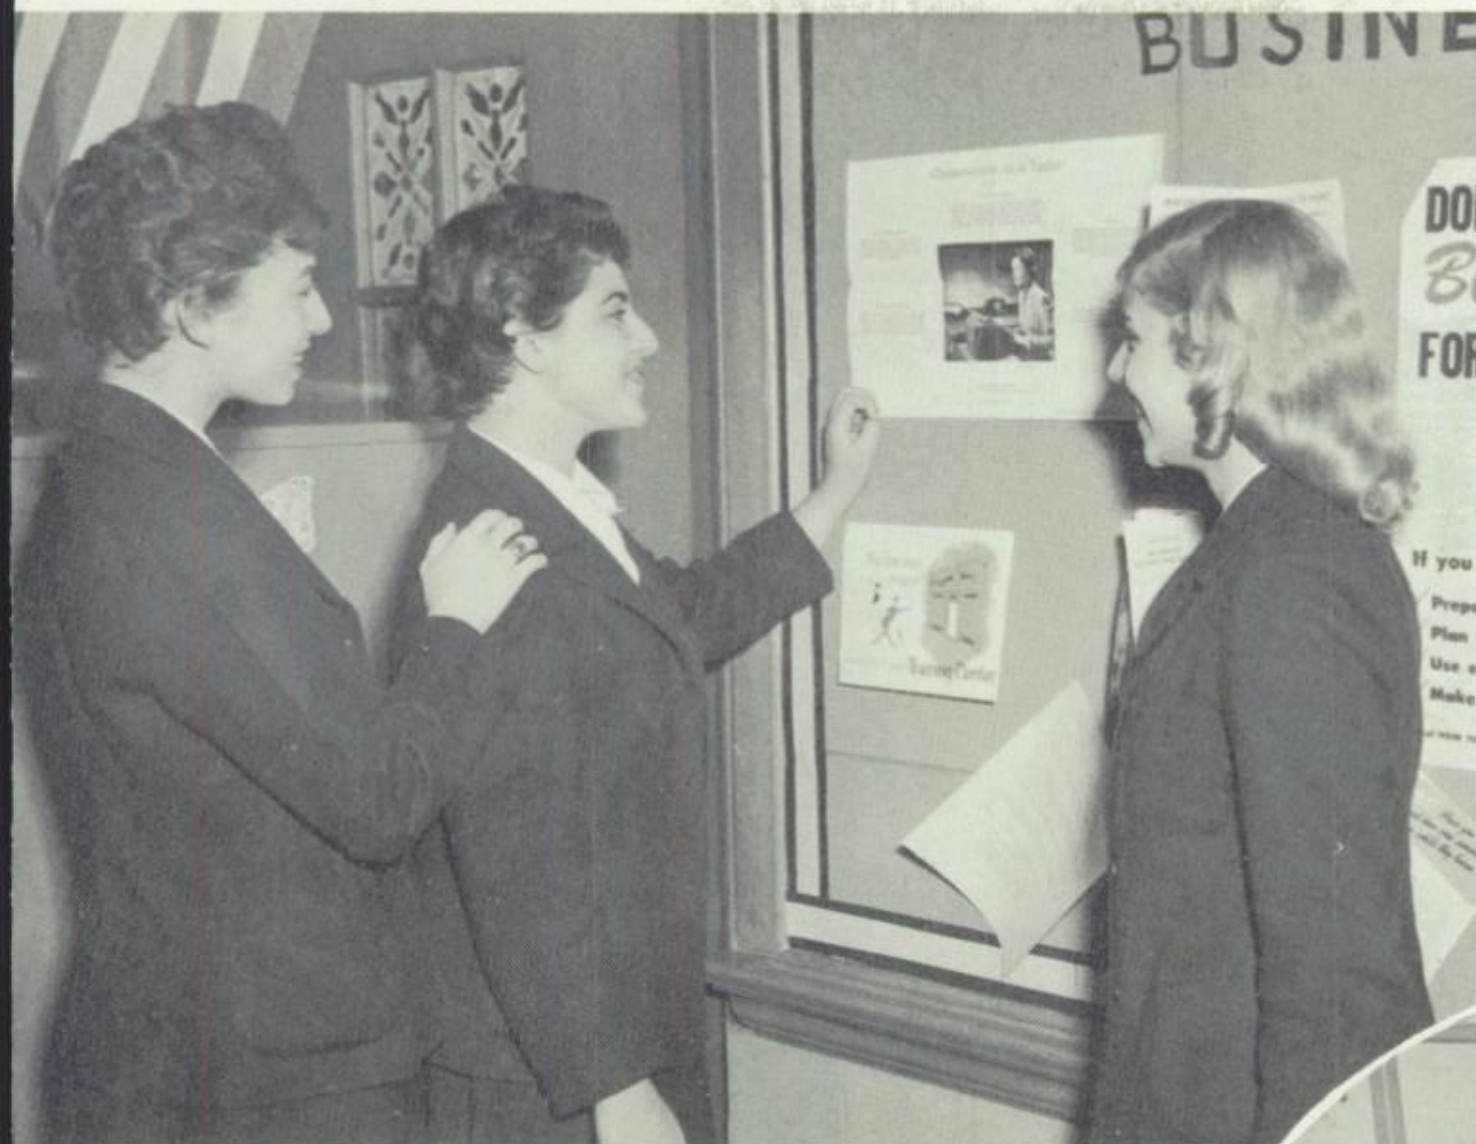

The bureau, under the direction of Sister Catherine Maria, endeavors to guide students into fields that will enable them to become morally, socially, mentally and physically well-adjusted. This huge task is simplified by the application of various tests. This October 10-11 the entire school participated in a two-day miscellaneous achievement test. These "Iowa Tests" concern the student's general background in Science, English, Quantitative Thinking and Social Studies, and proved competent in determining the pupil's rating in the various diversified branches. Although the final choice of every Josephite must be of her own selection, the girls fully acknowledge the assistance of Sister Catherine Maria and her active guidance interest proper direction.

Man Thinks . . . .

Mary Ann Ruck, Ellen Krall, Mary Lou Wemyss and Ginger McGough listen enthusiastically as Sister Catherine Maria explains to them the qualification of a college applicant.

Vita Antonelli is pondering the requirements of the business world, while Joan Attanasio points out to Antoinette Katra the advantages that can be attained as a typist in many firms. Every graduate leaves St. Joseph's with the certainty of a worthwhile position in the business world.

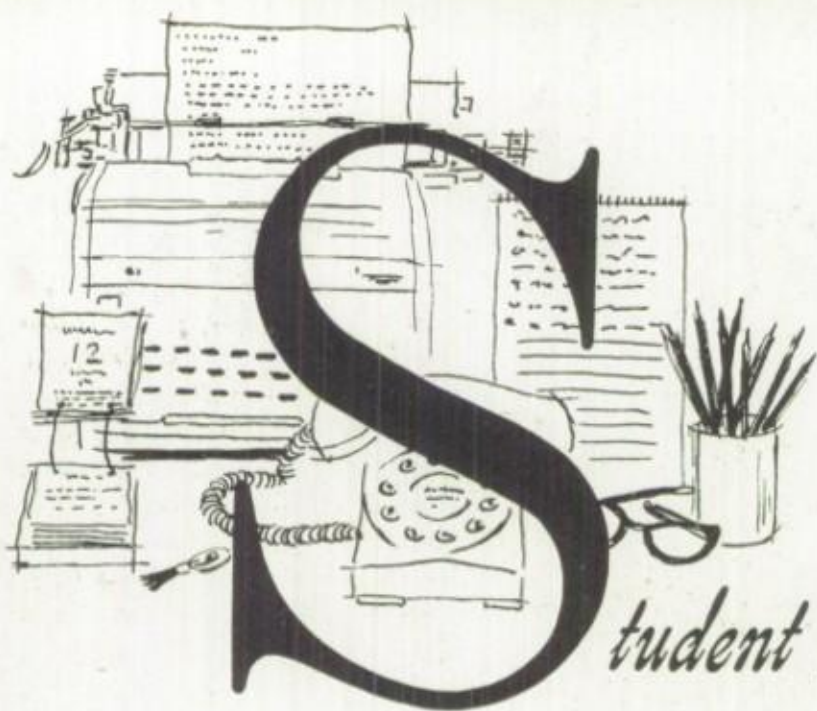

The results of the Iowa Tests will prove to be helpful to this 4A group. It will reveal their potentialities when faced with problems.

... And God Directs

Answers to puzzling college questions are being sought by Jo-Ann Karam, Eleanor Kaminski, Mary Keegan and Marion Garrity in the pamphlet section of the well-known Guidance Room.

Student Placement Bureau

As Mary Ann Burns sits in the "Help Wanted" corner ready to type out an application, she reads over the requirements just one more time. Helen McCaffery, not yet satisfied, searches on.

The smiles have it as Antoinette Longo plainly displays her success in obtaining a summer position through the aid of the Placement Office. Arlene Burgandi and Geraldine Pisklak eagerly await their chance for equal success.

Under the capable direction of Sister Catherine Maria, the Placement Office functions primarily to establish the graduate in positions that insure a successful and profitable future. For students who wish to continue study in college and who have the essential requisites, special scholarship classes are conducted each morning before the regular periods. These classes help to prepare the brighter students for the state scholarship competition scheduled in January and for the college board exams.

If students wish to go to business, Sister endeavors to establish them in a position suitable for her training and qualifications. A Civil Service examination, comprising stenography, typing and English is offered to pupils interested in acquiring city and federal employment. "Career Day" is held annually for the seniors. Representatives from various vocations familiarize the girls with the specifications and opportunities of each field.

Will it be Saint John's, Saint Joseph's or Fordham? This seems to be the puzzling question as Ethel Omerza and Carmen Daidone read over the various college requirements. Ann McDonough seems to be quite sure of her choice and proceeds to fill out her application.

While she was a student at St. Joseph's, Joan Sullivan served on the Office Staff. She received her diploma in January 1949 and was employed by Home Life Insurance Company where she was photographed sitting at her desk as a clerk in the Accounts Department from which she has been advanced to the position of Junior Accountant.

To Jesus Through Mary

As in all spiritual organizations, the purpose of the Legion of Mary is the self-sanctification of its members and the dissemination of charitable assistance through which Christian virtue is evidenced in Catholic Action. With all their hope in Mary under the various titles, the members extend their deeds of mercy by helping after school in many of the hospitals and homes throughout the Brooklyn Diocese. Besides performing the corporal works of mercy, the Legionnaires perform the spiritual duties of their praesidium including the recitation of the prayers in the Tesara, the Legion leaflet; two hours active sacrificial service; and faithful attendance at the weekly meetings.

In St. Joseph's, there are ten praesidia, each characterized by an acclaimed title of Our Lady and directed by separate moderators and appointed officers. The four officers of Our Lady Help of Christians, President, Mary Murray, Vice-President, Katherine Karga, Secretary, Margaret Benjamin and Treasurer, Patricia Norris look through the Hand Book for ways to improve the status of their praesidium.

It is the fervent hope of every Legion member that she will prove a worthy aspirant to span the crossways of virtue extending to God's throne through the intercession of His Immaculate Mother. Members of the Mystical Rose praesidium listen attentively as Senior member Rosemary Mirante reads a passage from the Hand Book.

As soldiers in Mary's Brigade, the girls are ever-mindful of the missionaries and regularly assemble packages of toys and clothing which are distributed to the missions in Puerto Rico and our own home missions in the South. Rosemarie Figlia, Rosemarie Welscher, Angelina Calo, Arlene Mazzarana and Antoinette Longo carefully wrap Christmas presents for the missions.

As Antoinette Longo and Arlene Mazzarana offer Helen a refreshing drink, Rosemarie Welscher smilingly reads a passage from an interesting book. The assistance of the aged at the De Kalb Avenue Home is another charitable phase of Legion activity.

One of our industrious juniors, Antoinette appears thoroughly engrossed in learning to use the sewing machine as Sister John of the Cross offers friendly assistance. Such visits to homes for the aged portray the Legionnaires' willingness to fulfill Our Divine Lord's precept of "prayer and good works".

Antoinette and Arlene discover the domestic magic of the automatic mangle presser in the laundry of the De Kalb Avenue Home. Besides executing works of mercy, the girls often acquire beneficial practical knowledge.

Glee Club

At an informal gathering after school the officers of the Glee Club Marilyn Milone, Mary McCann and Theresa Culbert discuss important questions that arise during the regular weekly meeting. While the two librarians, Joan Ncbre and Catherine Quail, assort the music, Sister John Vianney, the moderator, answers a question for Paulette Hios, the pianist.

The members of the Glee Club are pictured here singing the traditional Christmas carols at the Brooklyn Savings Bank which is an important cog in the wheel of New York's finance.

Saint Joseph's Glee Club sustains the reputation as one of the most popular ways for students to spend their out-of-schooltime. Membership is available to any student from the second to the fourth year who has an adequate knowledge of music and is willing to devote practice time on Wednesday afternoons from three to four-thirty o'clock. The rehearsals are conducted by the officers under the careful guidance and direction of Sister John Vianney, the moderator.

On various occasions the club has given musical recitals for the benefit of the student body and faculty. This year the Christmas season commenced with the traditional singing of Christmas carols at the Brooklyn Savings Bank and continued with entertainment for the school, prior to the Christmas vacation. The annual spring concert was the highlight on the Glee Club's agenda receiving gratifying recognition from the faculty and audience.

Orchestra

Every Friday afternoon at three o'clock and Wednesday morning at eight o'clock, twenty-three enthusiastic students work tediously with Mr. John Renner, A.A.G.O., our director, striving for musical perfection while our moderator, Sister John Vianney, looks on encouragingly. Sister also supervises the orchestra in the absence of Mr. Renner.

Interested students, most of whom have had no previous musical experience, willingly sacrifice the extra time necessary to acquire practical mastery of their particular instruments. When they are admitted to regular rehearsals, the novices enjoy the companionship of other members, who like themselves, find in music a worthy outlet of self expression.

There have been many occasions on which our school orchestra has had an opportunity to display its cultural attainments to parents, students and friends. Above, the string section readies itself for such a performance. They include, left to right: Margaret Papparella, Doris Wittman, Theresa Cardinale, Roberta Ross, Margaret Sweeney, Elizabeth Kelly, Beatrice Bianco, Barbara Rohner, Clara McMahon and Loretta Attanasio.

The officers of our orchestra readily serve its members. Discussing important problems are: Beatrice Bianco, President; Vita Antonelli, Vice President; Mary Baliunas, Secretary; and Frances Iannarelli, Treasurer.

Here Rosemary Vono, a Senior Orchestra member, directs the eager learners who are: Maureen Cotroneo, Rosemary Grispo, Helen Maresca, Patricia Zuzchek, Lorraine Halley, Estelle Scarpati, Lucille Mazzola, Vivian Di Gregorio.

After the May Queen has been officially presented with the crown, she addresses the flower girls, attendants, and student body, thanking them for the great honor and distinction of being selected as the May Queen. She then confirms Mary's exclusive right to the crown.

Each year toward the closing of May, the entire faculty and student body assemble before the shrine of Our Lady to witness the regal procession and ceremonies of the May Crowning. During the chant of May hymns, bouquets are humbly offered at the feet of Mary and envelopes containing petitions are burned. Our Lady receives the crown of Spring blossoms and the ceremony is concluded with Benediction of the Blessed Sacrament.

At the peak of this beautiful ceremony Catherine Costello, last year's May Queen, slowly advances to gracefully crown Our Blessed Lady, Queen of the Universe, with a majestic garland of spring blossoms, which she is forfeiting out of pure devotion to Mary. She then proceeds to the statue of Our Lady to place the crown upon her head.

Although not quite as elaborate as the Senior May Crowning, the freshman and sophomore ceremony is just as impressive a scene. Regardless of the setting, the true meaning is still there, and that is the crowning of Mary as Queen of the May.

Our May Crowning

Amidst a reverent singing of Mary's hymns, the attentive attendants and school body pay homage to Mary as Queen of the May. The ceremony is then followed by Benediction and the final procession back to the school.

Library

As Annette Jerro delves into the card catalog, Diane Simon takes down the important facts in shorthand. Joan McLoughlin contemplates the next step to take in finishing her history assignment.

Behind the scenes of the library is the busy and efficient reference room. Shown here, Patricia McKeon is carefully filing index cards as Pat Ainsworth stamps periodicals. Ellen Krumm and Marguerite Fernandez are retouching the damaged books as Barbara Kramer refers to the files for an important business letter. Seated, Joan Kramer busily types out the necessary library cards as Marlene Clementi pastes the completed ones into the books. Helene Carpenter's task is to keep the books clean.

Education through reading is depicted by Mary Lynagh, Carol Hogarty, Gloria Kuczinski, Marilyn Beattie, Florence Denisch, and Betty Lawlor as they use the Library's fine collection of periodicals and reference books to increase their perception of past and present happenings.

The position of the library in the routine activity of the school is one of service—to the student and to the faculty. It is here where the minds of many pupils are cultivated by literature worthy of a Christian young lady. This year over seventy Pages worked under the supervision of Sister Saint Maurice. These Pages play a significant role in the efficient management of the library. Their duties consist principally in preparing books to be borrowed by their fellow students and shelving the books in orderly formation.

The reference room, a separately installed unit, functions as an important source of information on a variety of topics. Term papers and other particular assignments may be completed in their entirety with the facility of this room. An excellent collection of phonograph records comprising the Shakespearean and other notary literary classics is available for the enjoyment and utility of the school at all times.

Library pages Linda Vermilyea and Jean Brunone assort letters as Joan Reynolds, Barbara O'Brien and Eileen Hurley show their artistic ability by decorating the Library's bulletin board. This fine display enhances the beauty of the library.

The trade routes of the library merge at the main desk. As Pat Palumbo checks out the selection of Johanna La Rocco, Santa Lo Biondo and Grace Smith locate the cards for the returned books. Thus the library may be assimilated in a single word—"Service."

At the stroke of three every Friday afternoon we find the "Parmentier" staff busy deciding what will and what will not appear in the next issue. Staff members are: M. Guadagno, E. Omerza, M. Cusic, I. Banks, A. Gonzalez, R. Walsh, P. Cottingham, A. Zambricki, A. Brigandi, and E. Krumm.

Journalism Club

"Of all the arts in which the wise excel, Nature's chief masterpiece is writing well."

This appropriate statement enhances one of the primary purposes of a school journalism club: to encourage students in the development of creative writing skills, adaptable to the mechanisms of accepted journalistic style in producing a suitable publication.

At St. Joseph's, the newspaper staff includes two divisions: the senior section, comprising the upperclassmen, who are instrumental in composing and completing the four annual issues of the "Parmentier"; the freshman group, who devote their energies to absorbing the instructive courses in journalism procedure offered by the Editor in Chief.

The staff assembles twice a week, in their newly-acquired meeting room on the third floor, to submit assignments, check copy, and consider arrangements and original ideas which may further improve the standard quality of the publication. The paper had a new format this year, employing a larger size divided into five columns. During the past year, the "Parmentier" received honorable mention for a prize in photography at the Catholic High School Press Association meeting held October 26th.

Regina Walsh listens as Joan Rota takes attendance at a meeting of the Senior Journalism Club. Seated are: N. Nolas, C. Nizzari, P. Ennis, E. Treacy, J. Palestino, C. Sparano, L.

Mazzola, C. Stella, C. McCarthy, T. Sidwaski, N. McMahon, D. Marrone, M. Kelly, A. Milaccia, A. Carlina, C. Colligan, C. Kaminski, G. De Vito, A. Marra, M. A. McPortland.

Patricia Cottingham endeavors to answer a question asked by Kathleen Rajkowski at one of the weekly meetings of the Freshman Press Club. Present are: L. Angelino, J. A. Muller, M. Pellegrino, M. Mattero, V. Hogan, J. Flanagan, M. Simon, J. Kroeplin, D. De Bella, E. De Fato, E. McCooey, D. Loeber, P. Anderson, M. Sullivan, P. Celeste, E. Scillitti, M. Cirillo, P. Crump, T. Scopillito, C. Pinto, L. La Bella, C. Falkenhsones, M. Libera.

A little pride in their work is felt by the members of the "Parmentier" staff as Editor-in-Chief Regina Walsh displays the first publication of a five column paper. Standing are: A. Gonzalez, M. Guadagno, E. Omerza, P. Cottingham, A. Zembricki, A. Brigandi. Seated are: M. Cusic, I. Banks, R. Walsh, E. Krumm.

Science Club

The wonderland of scientific ingenuity has captivated many previous St. Joseph Commercialities and this year bears no exception. Comprising one of the largest organizations in the school, the 108 members strive to ascertain a practical approach toward modern man's inventive progress thereby cultivating life's endowment of invigorating and rewarding experience. "THE SCIENCE BELLES," under the direction of Sister Mary Genevieve, do not neglect the primary fundamentals of science know-how, such as the use of the microscope and the making of rock candy, but they also undertake formulative experiment demonstrating nature's physical laws.

Each year the club selects a project in which the entire membership participates. This past semester the junior "Madame Curies" have unravelled the mystery of applying molds in creating Plaster of Paris models of the paramecium and other cell structures.

While the Secretary of the club, Lillian Pappocoda, reads her experiment the girls are jotting some notes on the subject.

Lillian Pappacoda, Secretary; Mary McGarrity, Treasurer; Helen Breitsch, President; Grace Cacioppo, Vice President; and two junior officers of the club prepare the schedule for the next meeting.

Experiments prove to be the basis of science know-how. As Joyce Lo Bianco fills the test tube, the girls in the foreground look with interest.

Chairlady, Kathleen Duffy, second from left, supervises the assorting and counting of The Tablet every Friday morning in the ninth floor bookroom. Active Senior "newsboys" Flo Wagner, Mary Lytle, Rose Scola, Joan Spinelli, Jan Yelle, Winnie Lytle, Maurine Lehmbeck and Laura Breuer are anxiously awaiting their turn to be assigned to different classrooms.

The Tablet

Sophomores Lorraine Cosgrove, Joan Basel and Pat Fox proudly display our Catholic Action Tablet Award.

A true apostle is a spokesman for the Church. By means of the powerful weapon of the written word, limitless influence can be exerted for the Catholic cause. Meriting its position as the most widely acclaimed and circulated Catholic publication, The Tablet is distributed to St. Joseph's student body via volunteers from Christian spirited pupils. These girls perform their service under the direction of Chairlady Kathleen Duffy. Every Friday, at 8:30 sharp, the class representatives gather to distribute the papers to the classes. Today, while youth is being continually marauded by the debased allurements of sensation and perverted literature, Catholic schools recognize the obligation they have to propagate the standards of morality through the effectual mediums of the popular press.

The promotion of decent literature is helped along by the entire roster of Tablet Representatives. They are: A. McKearney, E. Besnahan, T. Giaimo, A. Donnelly, P. Lesnewski, M. Gallagher, J. Sterling, K. Dowan. Second row: M. Casey, P. Heavey, C. Dillon, M. Sniechkus, C. Zanfini, M. Furey, P. Ryan, E. Polemene, J. Mazzo. Third row: F. Palmintri, M. Power, M. Muller, M. O'Donnell, H. Haragsim, E. Albano, C. Schittina, D. Tramontana, P. Gallagher, G. Tacopino, J. Contursi, M. Pilligrino.

Each semester the members supervise school mission activity projects which consist of collecting and assorting cancelled stamps and Catholic magazines, promoting charity social benefits and various other mission-minded projects.

A Bridge To The Needy . . . Mission Club

Working in a spirit of Apostolic unison, the members of the Mission Club strive to cultivate the seeds of lay-participation in nurturing the Divine Word among the blinded souls of non-believers. Although limited to a small scale basis, their simple tasks play a vital role in helping the Missions. The missionaries urgently request the prayers of Catholic laymen to back them in their work with souls. Our Mission Club fosters these precepts of prayer and sacrifice by reminding us that Charity is a bridge to eternal joy.

These members of the Mission Club smile happily as they work diligently on their projects which aid in supplying money for the activities carried on by the foreign missions. The members are: Grace Cullen, Annette Labiani, Anne Convey, Eugenia Errico, Rosalie De Tirio, Pat O'Rourke, Barbara Cook and Theodora D'Amico.

Laughing Irish Eyes

A bit of the auld sod becomes evident in every Josephite each year at March 17. To commemorate this feast the students of St. Joseph, under the direction of Sister Francis Audrey, present a play.

This year's production sparkled like a shamrock in the morning dew, and was a laugh provoking bit o' blarney. Molly Shannon comes into the home of the aristocratic Mrs. Oberon to work as a housemaid. Since Molly's mother is already employed there, Molly takes the job under the assumed name of Molly St. Clair. Maggie Shannon suspects her daughter's ruse, for at the same time a new chauffeur arrives in the person of Tom McFadden, Molly's fiancé. Through the efforts of Molly and Tom, Mrs. Oberon's daughter, Marguerite, is saved from what would have been a disastrous marriage to a scoundrel. Myron, Mrs. Oberon's son, is saved from the clutches of the fortune-seeking prima donna, Dolores Dawn, and happiness is safeguarded to the Oberon household by the time the curtain falls on the last act.

The Glee Club, dressed appropriately in their green uniforms, join Danny McGuire (Market Powers) and Annie Rooney (Elizabeth Kelly) in a lilting Irish tune. Tired of the harangues and moods of their uppish employer, Mrs. Oberon (Mary Murray), the chauffeur and the maid decide to elope after arranging to have their places filled by two of their friends whose arrival complicates matters.

Staging his first operetta is a big job for Myron. Discouraged by his mother who declares his music is worthless, he looks to the shows leading lady Dolores Dawn (Patricia Coleman) his fiancée, for help. During one of the rehearsals we see Colette Ambrico, doing an Irish fairy dance.

The bottom drops out of Myron Oberon's (Teresa Farrell) world (and of his operetta) when his jealous leading lady denounces his hit song "Laughing Irish Eyes" as vulgar and refuses to play her role unless both the song and Molly Shannon are removed from the show.

Mrs. Shannon (Rita McClellan) the Oberon's housekeeper, has just discovered the reason her daughter Molly (Irene Purcell) has taken a maid's position in the household is that she wants to be near the new chauffeur Tom McFadden (Bernadette McNulty). Some good comedy in this scene ends with her conviction that Tom is a "likely lad."

Applause after the final curtain brought the members of the cast out for another and still another bow. The happy ending which sent the villain off to prison thus saving Della Oberon's happiness, brought joy to their hearts and a song to their lips.

Checking to see that the yearbook schedule is followed and looking over a former yearbook to examine the captions in order to improve on their ideas are Jean Morton, Dorothea Botti, Theresa Farrell, Mary Lou Wemyss, Patricia Casey, Mary Anne Ruck, Joan Feeney, Florence Swederska, Elaine Bilbao and Judith Attansio.

Traditionally Yours . . . The Yearbook Staff

Diane Simon, Janet Attanasio, Margaret Wilson, Marilyn Milone, Helga Hansen, Mary McCann, Kathleen Gillespie, Eleanor Kaminski, and Annette Jerro discuss problems encountered since last meeting.

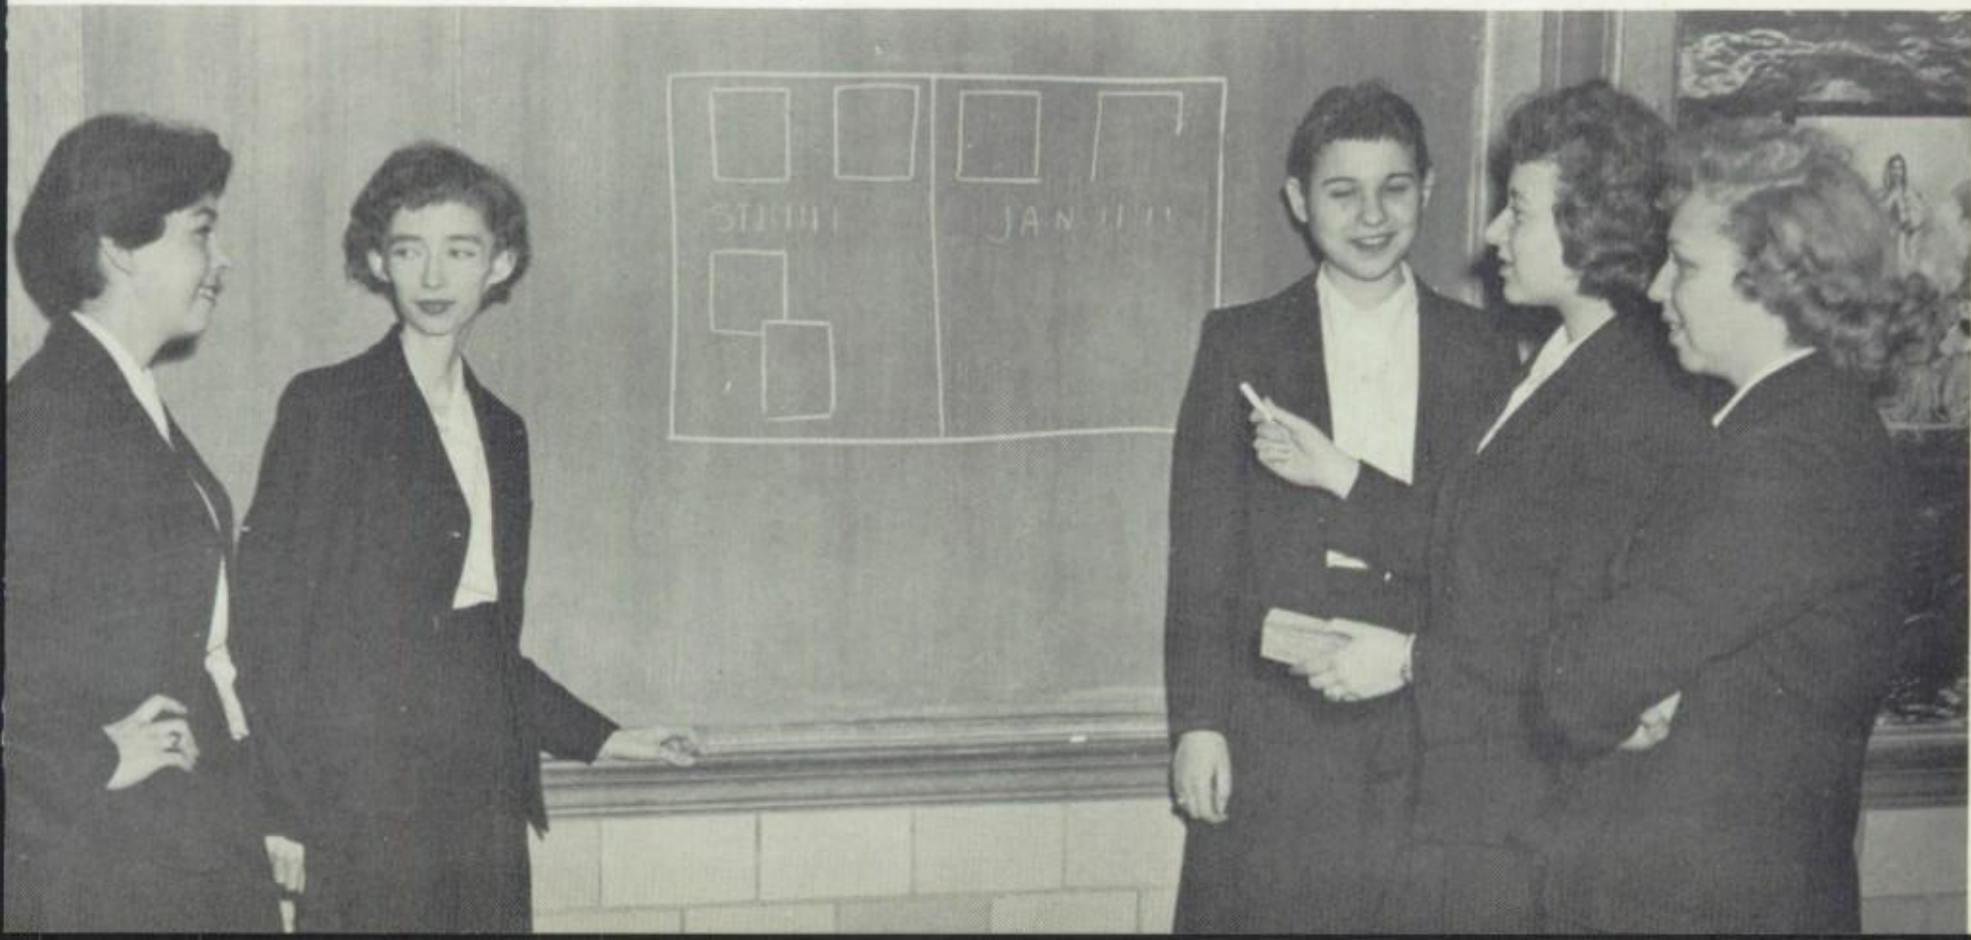

Junior staff examine former yearbooks: Erica Grossheim, Jean Brunone, Jeannette Heyer, Joyce Rifce, Eileen Kelly, Catherine Dillon, Rosemarie Welscher, Irene Sullivan, Josephine Palazzo, Theresa Fraeulin, and Irene Purcell.

Business Managers, Annette Jerro, Clementine Pepczynska, Helen Janiec, Geraldine Rieber, Marilyn Milone and Joyce Magnuson, each representing her class, seem pleased with close competition among seniors in Yearbook Drive.

A primary thought of every Senior as she commences the fall term is, "This yearbook will be mine." The Parmentier is a compilation of the events of the four years she has devoted to acquiring knowledge, poise, and the proper Christian attitude toward daily living. For their activities, the staff enjoys the use of a fully equipped publication room containing, besides, a library of dictionaries, the Thesaurus and previous yearbooks from other schools and our own. Although the February term brought a change of locale (from the larger area of Room 301), we find our new room 906, cozy as well as convenient.

Patricia Fennelly, Mary Ellen Wankmuller, Rosalie Padavano, Eleanor Gaeta and Joan Janice discuss the layout for senior pages. After deciding on four pictures on a page, a change from other years, they debated on an arrangement.

Alumnae

Mother's Club

Several women admire the lovely prizes which are displayed at one of the Auxiliary's semi-annual card parties. At these affairs, funds are raised for the benefit of the school and the foreign missions.

The five officers of the Mother's Auxiliary pause a moment for our camera. Kneeling, from left to right, are: Mrs. L. Inch, President; Mrs. J. Pirando, Recording Secretary; and Mrs. A. Fraeulin, Treasurer. Standing are: Mrs. J. Budney, Corresponding Secretary; and Mrs. G. Cox, Vice-President.

Sister Catherine Amelia supervises the cutting of coupons supplied by the girls of Saint Joseph's. The simple task of tearing coupons from boxes and bringing them in for the girls to trim have helped to build monuments to the expansion of the Sisters of Saint Joseph. Gale Barker, Theresa Jemma, Jeaneen Simonelli, and Mary Judge seem to be enjoying their work greatly.

Our students are now teenage girls expressing themselves by dancing to the popular tunes of the day. The dancing takes place after each lunch period with the girls' donations going to the Missions.

Incidents . . .

And Incidentals

At the annual convention of the Catholic Business Education Association, representatives from the different business schools enjoy luncheon in the cafeteria of Saint Joseph's Parmentier building. The students, always eager to help, give up their free afternoon to act as waitresses. Their bright smiles and exceptional courtesy have always been cause for comment.

Regina Walsh accepts an award from Sister Mary Regina. Regina won the Hickey Memorial for the best examination paper for seventh term. This was the third consecutive term she won this diocesan prize.

Red-letter day for the seniors is signified by the wearing of the White and Gold. On this day, the seniors skip through the school in best dresses and coquettish paper hats. The luncheon is one of the senior traditions. At the ceremony of lighted candles, they sing Auld Lang Syne.

High school is now more than a grammar school whim to these incoming freshmen. It becomes a reality as they are measured for their uniforms. Mrs. M. R. Fasano measures a candidate.

Seniors weep over the defeat of the Brooklyn Dodgers in the World Series. Mock funeral doesn't lessen the high spirits of the Yankee fans in the background. Just wait till next year!

As one of the best equipped commercial schools, Saint Joseph's keeps up with the times by installing the newest business machines available. The girls become acquainted with the techniques of these machines in lessons given by a company instructor.

Good wishes are conferred upon Pat Cottingham by her parents before participating in the annual oratorical contest sponsored by the American Legion. Pat's one of our best!

Seniors always wonder where the four years of high school went. Marie Scibona, Ann Norton and Kathleen Schrafel look a little sad as Mrs. Janet Fuchs, of Aleon Studios, adjusts drape for senior portraits.

The Hospital Fund Drive is another function readily taken up among the seniors. They patiently haunt the cafeteria and corridors asking for spare change for the purpose of fighting disease.

At the annual Snowball Dance, pretty Kathy Orlando was chosen Snow Queen.

After school work is successfully covered and the awaited Christmas vacation lies ahead, these freshmen curtain-timers elaborately perform "The Toymaker's Doll" to the delight of all others in the Lawrence Street building. The dancing ballerina twirls to the delight of the toy soldiers in the background while sympathetic toymaker listens to girl's wish.

Why should You work at MERRILL LYNCH?

THAT'S A GOOD QUESTION and deserves the best answer we can give you—particularly if you've never worked before.

Because choosing any job is an important decision—but the first one you take can easily affect your entire future.

Here at Merrill Lynch, for instance, we've talked with hundreds of girls in your position, feel that we've learned as much as anybody about the things you want—and the things you should want—in any job you take.

First, you've got to like your job . . .

Our work as brokers in securities and commodities, and as investment bankers, is broad enough to suit any preference or temperament. Just for example, if you like exciting work, we have openings in our Wire and Order Department, where teletype orders from our nation-wide offices are speedily relayed to the Stock Exchange floor. If you like work requiring mathematical accuracy, we have openings in our Margin Department, where our customers' brokerage activities are recorded. In our Cashier's Department, where millions of dollars worth of securities are handled daily, we have positions of trust and responsibility. Through the year there may be openings in as many as forty different departments—opportunities, perhaps, in everything from advertising and sales promotion . . . to personnel work, research, and publishing.

Then you must feel that your salary's satisfactory . . .

We don't know you yet—so we can't tell you exactly what you'll make. But we do have any number of openings for clerical beginners at graduated rates depending on your skill and experience . . . do need any number of stenographers and secretaries to fill a wide range of responsible positions . . . can promise salaries in keeping with those positions—plus a good chance for advancement.

You should believe in the firm you work for . . . take pride in its thinking, its policies, its reputation . . .

Merrill Lynch is recognized as one of the leaders in its field. We believe in a five-day week, paid vacations, and year-end bonuses . . . offer you free medical service, group insurance, and a profit-sharing plan that doesn't cost you a dime. As for our reputation—we gladly refer you to any of our competitors.

Your job should be conveniently located and easy to reach . . .

Actually we have offices now in over 100 cities. But you'd work right here in our New York headquarters at 70 Pine Street...will find that we're only minutes from all subways...within easy reach of Jersey, Staten Island, the Bronx, Brooklyn, and Westchester.

•If we sound like the kind of a firm you'd like to work for, we'll be happy to answer any questions you may have.

Just come in and ask for Miss Tanabey in our Personnel Department on the fifth floor—or simply drop her a confidential note at—
